THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION 50X1-HUM

The Chinese Embassy [ ] has recently tightened up its procedure for issuing Chinese Peoples Republican passports. Applications submitted by Chinese nationals are classified according to occupation and are then forwarded to the relevant China Democratic League [ ] subordinate organization for security screening. Thus, for example, an application submitted by a laborer is passed to the [ ] Chinese Workers Federation and one from a teacher is passed to the [ ] Chinese Teachers Union.1

1. [ ] Comment. At the beginning of 1951 it was reported that the Chinese Embassy was issuing passports only to those Chinese recommended by certain communist elders, all of whom were officials or sympathizers [ ] This new procedure is calculated to give [ ] mass organizations and trades unions a useful lever to enforce support from the local Chinese community.
